The Magic of A Good Book
 Where the Sidewalk Ends
 by Shel Silverstein

There is a place where the sidewalk ends
 And before the street begins,
 And there the grass grows soft and white,
 And there the sun burns crimson bright,
 And there the moon-bird rests from its flight
 To cool in the peppermint wind.

Let us leave this place where the smoke blows black
 And the spik steel winds and bands,
 Past the pit where the asphalt flowers grow,
 We shall walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
 And watch where the chalk-white arrows go
 To the place where the sidewalk ends.

You will walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
 And we'll go where the chalk-white arrows go,
 For the children, they mark, and the children, they know
 The place where the sidewalk ends.
